VOL. CXXXII—No. 168 ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA, SATURDAY JULY 22 1916. PRICE 2 CENTS

LARGE SUMS OF OMITTED TAXES

Newport News Examiner Turns in Near Seven Millions

UNTIL AUGUST TO PAY

If Settlement is Made With the State by That Time, All Penalties Will Be Removed

Richmond, July 22—Virginia will have many millions o values of intangible property — notes, bonds, stocks, capital and money — returned for taxation voluntarily this year by persons who have found that they really have such property and have failed in the past to make return for taxation.

Under direction of the state board of taxation, Christopher B. Garnett, the executive assistant, asked all examiners of record to report not later than July 20 the amounts which have been voluntarily reported to them by taxpayers in their respective districts At the same time blanks for making such returns were sent to persons in all parts of the state, those for this city being mailed early this week.

Yesterday Mr. Garnett began to get in these returns, among the conspicuous papers received being that from S. R. Buxton, of Newport News, the examiner for the eleventh circuit. Mr. Buxton has had very good luck, the peope of that city reporting up to July 20 just $6,961,077 that had not heretofore been reported. That is by far the largest sum so far returned.

Under the laws the owners of all such omitted property can make a voluntary return up to August 1 of this year, paying the tax and saving the penalties provided by law. After that time they will be forced to pay the tax and all the penalties, the examiners of record being free to go right after the delinquents and to force them into court, entailing this additional expense.

Twenty-one of the thirty-one examiners in the state have already made reports to Mr. Garnett, six of this number declaring that not a solitary taxpayer in their ciruits had called on them up to the time of making the report to Mr. Garnett, and consequently they could not say that the people had anything to report as omitted. However, these same examiners will be directed to make further investigation and to diligently inquire whether all reports made by taxpayers are correct.

All persons in the state have till August 1—that is, prior to that time for this year only—to make such corrections as may be by them declared fair and correct. That is the law, and after that time they will have to take the consequences of their own acts.

Following are the districts in which the examiners say they have had no "voluntary" reports so far: Sixteenth, Nineteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-first, Twenty-seventh and Thirty-first.

By the end of this month all reports of all examiners will be received, and even those who reported nothing as "voluntarily" returned are expected to have something to make known. Also those who have failed to make any report whatsoever will have sent in their reports, having till the end of the month to make their final reports, and those who have sent in reports of omitted taxes are expected to send in lists augmenting the returns already in hand. Until this is done, however, it will be impossible to say just how much unreported taxes will be on the books as new property.

COMPULSORY TAPPING

Fines Will Be Imposed Next Month Against Persons Failing to Make Connections.

But nine more days remain for residents who have failed to make sewer connections to comply with the regulations in this respect, as Alexandria's compulsory sewer tap law, which technically has been in effect for several years, but which has not been enforced until the past year or so, makes it obligatory for all property owners whose residences or places of business are situated on a street or an alley where there is a sewer to connect with the same before August 1, 1916, which was the extended time limit allowed by city council. The bill, as passed originally, stated that connections should be made before July 1, 1915, but the time was extended to the former date.

Compulsion may be necessary in cases where the law is not complied with, but the authorities anticipate very little trouble in this report, owing to the fact that most of the citizens of the city have already had sewer connections and that the majority of those who had not have made same when the compulsory sewer tap law was passed. Delinquents, however, are subject to a fine.

EVANGELICAL CAMPAIGN

Meeting of General Committee Will Be Held Next Tuesday Night

A meeting of the general committee of laymen from the local Protestant churches in charge of the evangelistic campaign to be held in this city in September in a huge gospel tent and which will be conducted by the Rev. Gypsy Smith, Jr., of Haddon Heights, N. J., will meet Tuesday night at eight o'clock in the auditorium of Trinity Methodist Church.

Tomorrow afternoon in the First Baptist Church the committee will conduct a meeting of all persons interested in the revivals, according to notice given out recently, when plans will be outlined for citizens who attend the meeting to aid the supervisors of the twenty-one districts into which the city was recenly divided for the conducting of a house to house canvass. James R. Caton is chairman of the general committee.

FIRE YESTERDAY

Authentic advices place the loss incurred by the Alexandria Coffee Company in the conflagration yesterday which gutted the third floor of its building at 309 Prince street and resulted in the practical destroying of its entire stock of coffee and peanuts, at $5,000. The entire loss was covered by insurance, however. The fire is now believed to have started as a result of defective electric wiring, which caused a wire in the third story to sputter and ignite inflammable material situated next to it.

TO REOPEN GRACE CHURCH.

Ornamental Work Executed in Edifice During Past Few Weeks

Grace Church will be reopened for services tomorrow after having been closed for several weeks, during which time the chancel has been painted and decorated.

One feature of the ornamentation is two adoring angels, one on each side of the altar. This work was executed by Miss Ann Shea, of Washington, who studied in a convent in Kentucky, and who has painted portraits of prominent people there and in Washington.

The symbols of the four evangelists are in the ceiling and encased in gold leaf lines, and the vestibule of the church has been embellished on the same order.

Monday morning at ten o'clock in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce the first aid class recently formed by members of the Alexandria chapter of the American Red Cross will meet for their first lesson. Twelve persons compose the class, for which books have been received. City Health Officer Dr E. A. Gorman is the instructor.

ALEXANDRIANS ON THE BORDER

Company G Find Close Discipline in Camp at Brownsville

BOYS PLACED ON DUTY

Soldiers Furnished Abundance of Everything Necessary For Their Camp Life

Discipline—discipline between man and man, private and corporal, noncom and officer and officer and staff—discipline. That is the watchword of the army, an it was the message given the First Virginia regiment by its chaplain, Captain Hall, at church call last Sunday according to a correspondent of the Richmond Journal.

Church call came at 8 o'clock and the early-rising routine of camp life had not been relaxed. The men had tubled out of bed for reveille at 5:45 fallen into ranks, with rifles and sidearms strapped on, for inspection, and gone through a few minutes of calesthenics. Then comes "fall out," to return to quarters, dispose of arms and wash hurriedly for "chow", known at home as the breakfast bell.

Breakfast over, mess kits washed and put away and bunk put in order—all this, you may have noticed, before 8 of a Sunday morning—a few minutes only of leisure remained. Perhaps it was used to chasten one's mind from a little "cussing" dealt out inwardly to a grouchy non-com; perhaps for a brief nap.

Promptly at 8 o'clock, then, each company was lined up in regular formation in his company street and marched through headquarters to the chaplain's tent. Here they grouped informally about a stack of lumber, from behind which Chaplain Hall of Danville preached to them as from a pulpit.

Attendance at the service was required of the whole company, regardless of religious affiliations, or lack of them. From the look on the faces as they ame away and the slightly sobered stride with which they strolled back to their quarters, few of them seemed to regret this brief observance of the Sabbath. They are men now, under military discipline, but free from that more inviolable restraint, family and responsibility, If they use their freedom they are amenable also to the sting of conscience that an hour of religious devotion invoked.

Several companies in the First regiment have already had turns at guard duty here at camp.

Last Sunday, Company G, better known as the Alexandria Light Infantry, mounted guard at 6 o'clok for its first 24 hour routine at this duty.

Virginias guardsmen are bearing up splendidly under their heavy duties and the torrid weather. The first few days in camp saw successive downpours of rain that many took to be the opening of Texas' rainy season. As the rain came down out of the sky, mud sticky as glue seemed to come up out of the ground. Company streets between the rows of tents turned into sloughs, and drill was practically impossible.

Our medical corps is taking care of the few cases of illness or injury that inevitably appear among two regiments of men of average health projected into a new climat

Bully-beef and hard-tack days that the men learned to know on the train coming down and experienced a short while afterward, seem to be over now. Supplies from the regular quartermasters depot are being issued, and real beef was the chief ration at dinner yesterday. Just as a sample of what the guardsmen eat, the rest of the meal consisted of loaf bread, fried onions, creamed potatoes and coffee. Breakfast enriched by crullers with molasses for sauce. Fruit pudding of prunes or dried peaches and hard tack for the basis, is a frequent dessert. The rations are served plentifully, and there is usually enough for a second round for those who want it.

Doubtless the folks back home are curious to know how long the guardsmen will be on the border. Well, so are the guardsmen. Preparations toward making the camp permanent are the only indication the men here have, as to how long they will be in Texas—or further. These preparations indicate service here for all of the summer at least.

Imperilling Austro-German Lines in Region Near Lemburg

FLOODS IN DNEISTER

Vladdimir-Vloynski Almost Depopulated and Few Left Said to Be Starving

London, July 22—Blows imperilling the Austro-German lines in the Riga sector, before Kovel and in front of Lemberg, are being struck by the Russians.

After considerable artillery preparations the Russians launched heavy infantry attacks near the mouth of the Lipa River, which cleared the Teutons from before Werbern and drove them back to new positions at Beresteczk.

Vienna admits the loss of salients on the Styr, beyond its confluence with the Lipa, but asserts the sudden Russian advance has been arrested. In this battle Petrograd claims the capture of fifty officers and 1,600 men.

Russian forces under Gen. Kuropatkin are attacking the troops of Field Marshal von Hindenburg along the entire front in the Riga sector. For several days the Czar's heavy artillery has been racking the Teutons' positions with telling effect. At several points the German front has been broken, according to unofficial dispatches from Petrograd.

Vienna, July 22—Under the pressure of attacks by the Russians, the Austro-Hungarian forces in the region of the Styr and Lipa rivers, north of the Galician border, have been forced to withdraw to new positions in the region of Berestechk, says an official statement issued by the war office.

London, July 22—The floods along the Dniester are of benefit to the Austro-Germans, as they liberate troops with which to reinforce, at least temporarily, the Kovel-Vladimir-Volynski and Bukowina-Transylvania fronts, where, consequently, military experts expect there will be more heavy fighting, says a dispatch from Petrograd.

A former town councilor of Vladimir-Volynski, who escaped, says the town is depopulated except for women, children and aged persons. All able bodied persons, he reports were compelled to work on the defenses or were deported to Austria. The population is starving and the cheapest black bread is sold at 1 ruble a pound and there is no meat. There is much typhoid and other diseases are epidemic.

Milan, July 22—According to news received here from Hungary a panic preceded the exodus of the population of Brody, where the Russians are expected. Eighteen thousand persons have left the town, only 100 families remaining.

Alarm has spread throughous Hungary, even political circles being deeply moved.

Judge Peppenberg of Radantz, describing the evacuation, estimated that 50,000 refugees from Bukowina have encamped in the woods of the Carpathians.

The Rev. Charles F. Bandt, pastor of the Immanuel Lutheran Church will go to Buck Valley, Pa., today where he will preach tomorrow. The Rev. J. F. Wenschel will occupy the pulpit of the Lutheran Church tomor row evening. There will be no morning services.

INTEREST TO NIMRODS

New Game Law of State Will Be Enforced in Fairfax By Justice Payne.

A few weeks hence many Alexandrians will indulge in gunning mostly in Fairfax county near this city. The new game laws of the state are published for the benefit of all interested. Game Warden A. J. Payne, who is at present also a Justice of the Peace, carries a copy of the statute with him in addition to his other equipment, and will, as he has been doing for the past few years, see that the law is observed in all its details.

It is now unlawful to hunt in Virginia except as hereinafter stated, without first obtaining a license.

Residents must obtain either a county license, or a State license.

A county license entitles the holder to hunt in one county for a period of one year from July 1st, and costs one dollar.

A state license entitles the holders to hunt in the entire State for a period of one year from July 1st and costs $3.00.

"All owners and landlords and members of their families and tenants and renters, residing thereon, with the consent of the landowners, may hunt upon their own or adjoining lands without licenses."

Non-residents must secure a state license for which they have to pay $10.00.

Aliens must secure a State license for which they have to pay $10.00.

All licenses authorize the holders to hunt only within the regulations and restrictions provided by law.

Licenses can be obtained from the tion Court of any city in the State. county, or the Clerk of the Corporation Court o fany city in the State.

An applicant for a license must state "his age, place of residence, postoffice address, color, color of his hair and eyes, and height."

For the convenience of hunters application blanks for licenses have been printed and placed in the hands of all Sheriffs, Deputy Sheriffs, constables, oyster police captains, oyster police inspectors, Justices of the Peace, and applicants for the position of game warden, and anyone can obtain these blanks from any of these officers. Fill out the blank and enclose the same with the proper fee to the Clerk for a license.

All licenses date from July 1st, and are good only for one year from that time no matter when obtained.

Licenses are not transferable, and hunters must carry license with them at all times when hunting, where a license is required, and shall exhibit it to any officer or land owner requesting him to do so.

Hunting without a license is a misdemeanor, and punished by a fine of not less than $5.00 nor more than $25.00

MID-SUMMER MARKET.

Abundance of Seasonable Produce on Benches This Morning.

There was an abundance of summer fruits and vegetables exposed for sale in the market today. In most cases prices were reasonable. Watermelons, cantaloupes, blackberries, huckleberries, apples, etc., were in profusion. Meats and poultry showed no material changes in price. The fish benches had fair displays of specimens of the finny tribe.

FIRE IN FAIRFAX

Oliver's Store at Mount Pleasant Destroyed Last Night

During the prevalence of the rain and thunder and lightning at an early hour this morning the store conducted by Claud Oliver at Mount Pleasant, near Bayleys cross roads, adjacent to Alexandria, was found to be burning. The building and contents, valued at about $3,000 were destroyed. The loss is covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is not positively known, but it is suggested that the building may have been struck by lightning.

London Claims Germans Have Been Driven out of Places

REPORTS ARE DENIED

Teutons Challenge British Statement With Reference to Thursday's Engagement

London, July 22—The Germans in an attack on the British on the northern edge of the Leipsic salient succeeded Friday in occupying British front trenches, but later were driven out, according to the British official communication issued at midnight. Elsewhere along the British front comparative calm prevailed.

The day report states that the British line north of Bazentin and Longueval had been pushed forward to Foureaux Wood. The British drove the Germans from the wood but lost part of this position subsequently.

Berlin, July 22—An attack by British forces against the Germans at Fromelles, north of La Bassee, on Wednesday resulted in the loss by the attackers of more than 2,000 men killed and nearly 500 men taken prisoners, according t oa statement given out by the War Office today.

The statement admits that the German line along a front of about three kilometers (two miles) south of Hardecourt was driven from its first trenches into its second trenches, 800 metres in the rear. Enemy forces, the statement says, penetrated into the German salient at the wood of Vermaroviliers.

ROAD TO NEWPORT NEWS

New Line Will Take in Shepherd's Opposite Alexandria, on Way Capital.

The protest lodged by the officials of steamboat lines running out of Washington and by shippers along the Potomac river against the construction of a draw bridge across the river at Riverside, has developed the fact that the bridge in reality is one of the first construction moves of the Washington-Newport News Short Line Railroad.

This line will run direct from Washington to Newport News, on Hampton Roads, and not from Baltimore as previously reported.

From Newport News the line will cross inumerous counties in Virginia to Metomkin Point, cross the Potomac River at this point, thence through Charles County, Md., touching at Indian Head, thence to a connection with the Shepherd branch of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad opposite Alexandria, at the line of the District of Columbia for entrance into the Union Station in Washington.

The bridge to span the Potomac, according to President Gannon, will cost appreximately $1,000,000, and designed from plans approved by the Engineer Corps of the United States army, who also have approved the right of way. The road will be about 150 miles long and will cost approximately $14,000,000.

The officers of the company are: Frank S. Gannon, president; Frank S. Gannon, Jr., vice president and secretary; William H. Siebert, of Brookly, treasurer, and Channing M. Ward, chief engineer.

POLICE ARE INSPECTED

Members of Force Congratulated Upon Appearance and Efficiency Yesterday Afternoon

The annual inspection of the Alexandria police force took place yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at police headquarters, and the policemen were congratulated and praised for their efficiency, warm words of commendation coming for each member of the force from the board. There were 24 men in all inspected.

Commissioner Knight advised all men who will need new police overcoats next winter to place orders now, owing to the fact that they will be hard to obtain in a few months and the cost would steadily advance from now on.

Books of rules adopted by the commissioners May 1 were distributed, and the policemen were asked to be on the alert to enforce the prohibition law which goes into effect November 1.

The commissioners who conducted the inspection were Robert E. Knight, George H. Schwartzmann, and J. Edward Shinn. Commissioner Sweeney and the mayor were unable to be present.

INSTITUTION FOR AGED.

Anne Lee Memorial Home Being Placed in Condition For Occupancy.

As the outside work on the Anne Lee Memorial Home for the Aged nears completion it calls attention to the needs of the interior. The board of managers are doing all in their power to get the Home in condition for those who are anxiously awaiting admittance and with this object in view the ministers of all the Churches were asked to announce last Sunday that all the Sunday school children are urged to bring one penny, or more, to their Sunday school teacher tomorrow to help to paint the inside of the Home.

The portico is finished and the entrance to the building is beautiful, this was erected by the Seventeenth Virginia Regiment Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy. The Cameron street entrance was donated by Mr. E. E. Wagar and when completed will add materially to the looks of the building.

Five of the rooms are to be furnished as Memorial rooms, three have been taken, and the Board of Managers are hoping the others will be taken care of by the time the interior work is done, by churches, societies or individuals.

The work on the Home has been entirely by Alexandria workmen and all materials for improvements have been purchased from Alexandria merchants, not one dollar has been spent outside of this city. When the home is finished a complete list will be published of those who have donated materials and work. Washington merchants have been most generous in donating paint, paper and other needed materials.

The assistance the townspeople have given to this worthy cause has been most encouraging and the Board of Managers ask for a continuance of their support and co-operation and any contributions will be heartily appreciated by those in charge of the work and those waiting to enter the Home.

"Love's Noble Qualities" will be the subject of the sermon of the Rev. John L. Allison, D. D., pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church tomorrow morning.

REWARDS OF THE RIGHTEOUS

Interesting and Cheering Sermon at the Gospel Tent Last Night.

Evangelist Gibson spoke last night at the gospel tent upon "The Rewards of the Righteous." He took his text from Rev. xxi., 7—"He that overcometh shall inherit all things, and I will be his God and he shall be my son." In the course of his address the speaker said those who enter those gates will be those who have conquered their wayward inclinations and keep the commandments of God and the faith of Jesus. Those who overcome will have the privilege of eating of the tree of life. The tree of life, mentioned in the first book of the Bible, vanished when sin entered the world, and does not reappear except in the last book of the Bible.

"The Return of the Jews," will be Mr. Gibsons subject at the meeting tomorrow night. This is a specially interesting subject at this time, when the Zionist movement is spreading over the habitable earth. That the Hebrew race has merely been set aside temporarily to be reassembled in their own and in the latter days has always been the conviction of certain Bible students. The fact that the race has been kept intact while scattered over the face of the earth is suggestive.

RESULT OF FAMILY JARS

Shooting in the Southeastern Section of City Develops Into Farce Instead of Tragedy.

The case of a woman living at the extreme southern end of Lee street, who was charged with attempting to shoot a neighbor yesterday afternoon, was aired in the Police Court this morning. From the evidence it seems that the trouble was the result of chronic charges and counter charges by members of a large family, which precipitated a fight in which friends of the particiants looked on with complacence, while others participated in one way or another. No one was hurt, however, During the melee a young woman who was prominent in the affray entered her house and was followed by some of the belligerents. After they had left or been forced out, the proprietress procured a pistol and discharged it from a window. It was impossible to tell whether or not she aimed the weapon at her enemies. Had she intended shooting any one it was apparent to the court she would have succeeded at such close range. One of the women and a man was fined $1 each for disorderly conduct, and the woman who discharged the pistol was assessed $5. After the party had been admonished, they departed apparenty in better humor with each other, than when they entered the court room.

The Prussian casualties up to the present are said to be 2,801,521.

PEACE CAMPAIGN OF GERMANY

Signs gather that Germany is getting ready to meet the inevitable; that conditions render it obligatory on the leaders to begin a campaign of education that shall attune the minds of the people to terms of peace in which no territorial gains will enter, even as they were months ago brought to understanding that a cash indemnity from the allies was hopeless. This observation by several prominent journals of this country. Events on the eastern front, the disappointing result at Verdun and now the steady, but relentless squeeze of the British and French on the western line have convinced the militarist party at Berlin that the jig is up. All hope of a cash settlement was ended when the Germans were stopped by the battle of the Marne; all prospect of territorial aggrandizement vanished with the "come-back" of the Russians, the superb staying qualities evinced by the French and the "second wind" of the British as revealed in the new army raised by Kitchener. With unlimited munitions in the hands of the Russians, coupled with hordes of fighters; with Great Britain, slow to get into action, but now fairly aroused; with Italy recovering from the Austrian early impetus and the French ever alert, Germany must see the folly of continuing the war.

As the Richmond Journal suggests, we believe she does. This is what the "campaign of oratory," to start August 1 and to include fifty important cities in the itinerary means. It is frankly admitted that an "honorable peace" is sought, not a 'peace at any price." Of course, any suggestion of a truce, "to permit the German soldiers to go home to vote" is hardly to be taken seriously. The only truce the allies will consider is a permament one which as a preliminary, must comprise the withdrawal of all German troops from French territory; next the restoration of Belgium to its lawful occupants, together with a pledge to replace the physical damage wrought, so far as may be. Then Turkey and the Dardanelles will be objects of discussion. Russia will have to be guaranteed free passage from the Black sea to the Mediterranean, it is certain; that is to be her share of the award. These probable concessions will not be unfolded to the German populace by the lecturers. That would be unwise; besides, the time is not ripe. But the ground is to be rendered receptive for what is yet to come. "Honorable peace" will be so far disappointing to the agrarians that a bitter controversy is sure to ensue. The significant thing is that the government's former interdiction of any discussion of the war aims evidently has been revoked, since police permission has been granted to the German national commission to begin its speaking campaign.

INSPECTION OF THE POLICE

According to previous announcement, the members of the police force of Alexandria were inspected by the Board of Police Commissioners yesterday afternoon. They made a very creditable appearance, and were told so by the board. They were also complimented at the earnest manner in which they perform their duties and many words of encouragement were extended by those who have their oversight.

We are glad to be able to add our affirmation to all said by the commissioners. Most of the members of the present force are young men, and they are active and earnest in performing their duty.

We all need encouragement, no matter what our occupations may be. Policemen have much with which to contend, and often have their patience taxed almost to the breaking part especially at times when they are attempting to perform their obligations to the city. They often have the abrupt and insolent to deal with, and too often are the targets for people whose duty it is as citizens to vie with them in the preservaion of order. Besides all this, they watch over us while we sleep, and at times pass into danger zones in running down desperate criminals.

It is no uncommon thing for officers to be insulted by bystanders during disturbances which they are attempting to quell. Instead of standing by and indulging in criticism, it is the duty of all good citizens to aid the police when such aid is requisite. Occasionally cases come up in the Police Court where it is shown officers have been treated with discourtesy and where they have ben made to appear cheap while in the performance of their duty. When anything tangible can be brought out fines are generally assessed on such for disorderly conduct.

MILITARY SUPREMACY

Without at all discounting the latent possibilities that Germany may yet make effective to the confusion of the foe, there is no question as to the superiority of the Allies in military efficiency, as demonstrated upon the west front. The movement of the battles upon the east side may be credited to the considerable masses of Russians that cannot be overcome by the Teutons, who have not a tenth of the reserve forces possessed by their foe.

But the war is apt to be decided upon the west front as France has all along claimed. The Westminster Gazette aptly sums up the situation:

The battle of the Somme affords a test of the comparative efficiency of the allied armies. German army positions seized by the Allies north and south of the river are at least as difficult and twice as large as those which the Germans have been able so far to seize at Verdun. The operation of capture was carried out in one instance in 16 days; in the other instance it occupied five months. The losses of the Allies on the Somme have so far not been a fifth and the expenditure of ammunition not a tenth of the losses and expenditure of the Germans in the Verdun fighting. The comparison is arresting. The allied force have done double the work in a tenth of the time'.

A cotemporary in commenting on the above says:

It remains for the Germans to alter the relations of the battling foces. It has the satisfaction of knowing that the lines have not yet been broken through as upon the east front, with an irresistible onrush of the Allies. And until this has been effected, the partial although important gains still leave the Germans unconquered. Will the demonstrated military superiority of the Allies win the war? According to all counts it should. But this will rest upon the ability of the Allies to keep up their ammunition expenditure and the massing of reserves—for the latter Russia can still spare hundreds of thousand to the west side.

GERMAN CRIME WAVE

Crime waves that mean more than a wave—that mean, in fact, a tidal movement that will be long coming under normal control—are conditions that beset Germany, from all reports. The situation in a country whose able-bodied men are all in the trenchies and whose women and children are suffering and working in the common cause present features of fine devotion and heroism. But the other side of the picture is that of grief leading to insanity; loss and suffering leading to zerklessness; poverty and privation leading to vice; state control breaking down all family responsibility and the decadence of religion under the stress of conditions that are wholly inimical to the force of religious prescription.

The Baltimore American in this connection says:

It is not strange that the statistics of crime and vice and suicide should rise abnormally under the conditions. Yet this picture is by no means a general one for Germany; spectacles of the kind are the glaring exceptions, despite the fact that the country is undergoing a moral submergence that finds not the least of its causes in the incentives for the increase of population and the condoning of material errancies and things of like nature. The residual of this crime and vice condition will be long seen in the country that has chiefly suffered in the civil population.

CARD FROM CAPT. JOHNSON

Brownsville Texas.
July 18th, 1916.

Editor the Alexandria Gazette.

Dear Sir:

I have been informed through very reliable sources that some of the men belonging to the Alexandria Light Infantry, who were disqualified in Richmond, have been spreading the report in Alexandria that the reason they were treated so badly in Richmond was due to me. I want to brand such a statement as an infamous and malicious lie. This treatment was no fault of any officer of this regiment, however, at the present time it would not be proper for me to place the blame. I can readily prove I did everything in my power to help these men. In one case I went so far to give up my blankets to the disqualified men. In justice to myself and the other officers in the company I respectfully request that you publish this letter.

Very respectfully,
CONRAD JOHNSON,
Captain Ist Inf.. Va. N. G.

NEW AUTO TRUCK

(Communicated)

We want to know why the eight thousand dollar motor fire fighting machine was not operated yesterday at the disastrous fire of the Alexandria Coffee Co.? This apparatus was placed in position several minutes before a general alarm was turned in, and the machine proved of no service whatever, the operator stating that he either could not or would not press this machine into service without orders from the fire chief. This machine was on hand about fifteen minutes before the steam engines began operation.

Rogers was passing the corner and noticed the man and his wife in conversation. He drew a revolver from his pocket and fired three times. One bullet missed, but the second lodged in the back above the kidneys, while the third broke Cielak's shoulder. When arrested Rogers declared Cielak had been visiting his wife and that he had "lain for him."

The husband, who is a real estate dealer, was in a serious condition at a local hospital. He added nothing to his explanation that he had told his wife to leave the house while he attempted to save valuables and that he was forced by the flames to jump from a second story window. Finding of a stick covered with what were thought to be bloodstains near Mrs. Keister's body led the authorities to make a more careful inquiry. Later a carpet soaked with oil was found in the attic.

The Perfect Corn Flakes

New Post Toasties are not only inexpensive but they bear a new deliciousness, produced by a new process of cookery—the first to produce corn flakes with the self-developed true corn flavor.

So fine is this flavor that New Post Toasties are wondrous good eaten dry. Unlike common corn flakes, they do not require cream and sugar to make them palatable. Try some that way—you'll appreciate the point, though they're even better when served with cream or good milk.

These New Post Toasties don't mush down in cream, and they are not 'chaffy' in the package, like common flakes. They're new in form, new in flavor, and new in appearance. Note the tiny bubbles on each flake—an identifying feature.

Put up in wax-sealed packages, New Post Toasties retain their oven-crispness and flavor until served at your table.

Have your grocer deliver a package for tomorrow's breakfast.

The Pythagorians of Ancient Greece ate simple food, practiced temperance and purity. As a badge they used the five pointed star which they regarded as a symbol of health. A red five pointed star appears on each package of Chamberlain's Tablets, and still fulfils its ancient mission as a symbol of health. If you are troubled with indigestion, billiousness or constipation, get a package of these tablets from your druggist. You will be surprised at the quick relief which they afford.
